"This sense of disembodiment, of the unreality of my own muscles and bones, increased when Vaughan appeared." (Ballard, 2014, 98)

In the VR thriller eXistenZ, Allegra Geller uses a ski boot as a container for her game-pod.

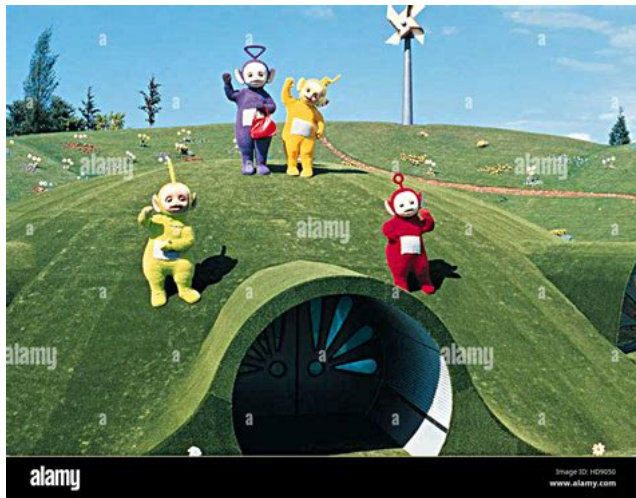

At first Cronenberg took the ski boot just as a model as it fitted tightly around the bio-organic gaming device and protected it. Several prototypes of game-pod holders were produced but none of them was as striking or as pretty as the original.

I took the series of photographs of the Injured Girl in the tube on the Circle Line on 20th September 2007.

I wonder if she noticed, me taking pictures of her.

I was impressed by her appearance and clothing.
Her splint looks weird though, like a ski boot.
